Taft Launches Final Drive In New Hampshire

By RELMAN MORIN
CONCORD, N. H.—(P)—Sen. Robert A. Taft entered New Hampshire today to lead the eleventh-hour drive that his organization believes will set him firmly on the road to becoming the Republican nominee for President.

The election is next Tuesday. It is the nation's first primary, and it brings Taft and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower together in a battle, not only for New Hampshire's 14 GOP delegate, but for the majority of popular votes. The state, this year, has a preferential section on the ballot, better known as the "popularity contest."

Test Of Popularity
It is not binding on delegates to either the GOP or Democratic national conventions. But neutral observers consider it supremely important for its bearing on the relative popularity strength of Taft and Eisenhower, on the Republican side, and President Truman and Sen. Estes Kefauver, his challenger, on the Democratic side.

Taft's schedule calls for 21 appearances in the next three days. It will take him to all the main cities in New Hampshire, to crossroads junctions, and into villages and tiny communities in the famed White Mountains where he is expected to pull a majority of his votes.

Taft said in New Haven last night that he would be satisfied if he wins only four of the 14 GOP delegates.

May Finish Eisenhower
His backers, however, are looking to the preferential section of the ballot to give the real coup de grace to the Eisenhower movement. The reason is this:

Eisenhower has the support of practically all the state's prominent Republicans, including the Governor, a Congressman and several other highly popular leaders here. Hence, it is taken as a foregone conclusion that these men will win the big majority of delegate votes.

But in the "popularity contest," the people vote directly for the prospective candidates themselves. Thus, the New Hampshire primary can throw a great deal of light on a big question:

Is the "grass-roots" sentiment for Eisenhower as strong as his backers have claimed?

Beer Syphon Found; Guzzle Plot Fails
JOPLIN, Mo.—(P)—Patrolman Clay Brown uncovered some enterprising guzzler's plot to syphon off beer from a Joplin bar room.

Brown was called to the tavern yesterday to investigate a report of a growler in the basement. He noted a small pipe inserted through a hole in the first floor—immediately beneath a beer keg.

The beer bibber had plugged the pipe with cork, apparently intending to return at night and replenish.

Two Drown In Car
EAST TAWAS—(P)—Robert W. Dearing, 24, of East Tawas and Martin Beck, 52, of Alabaster were drowned when their car careened into the Tawas river on M-55 after failing to make a turn.

Dearing, a navy seaman home on leave, was driver of the car. State Police pulled the two bodies out of the car about 15 minutes after the mishap.

Giant Bomber Burns
FORT WORTH, Tex.—(P)—A giant, 10-engine B-36 Intercontinental bomber burst in flames after landing here early today. All 14 crewmen aboard escaped without injury. One firefighter, however, suffered burns.

Korean Truce Talks Bog Down Deeper
By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN
MUNSAN, Korea.—(P)—The deadlocked Korean truce talks bogged down even further today as Communist negotiators insisted that neutral teams including Russians be permitted to inspect secret equipment during an armistice.

Staff officers working on truce supervision wrangled fruitlessly for more than an hour, but the prisoner exchange subcommittee called it a day after only 12 minutes. Negotiators agreed there was no point in reshaping old arguments.

The deadlock has become so serious observers here said they believe only action at the top level could end the stalemate.

Lawmakers Miffed By Secrecy Ban On Corruption Records

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE
WASHINGTON—(P)—House investigators demanded an on-the-spot explanation from Attorney General McGrath today for Justice Department refusal to open up its records to them.

The situation contained the elements of a new and explosive contest between the Truman administration and a committee of Congress digging into charges of corruption and irregularities in government.

Subpoena Threatened
Rep. Chelf (D-Ky), chairman of a special judiciary subcommittee investigating McGrath, threatened to use the subpoena powers of Congress or go directly to the President if McGrath persisted in his refusal to comply.

Chelf's statement came last night following a hastily-called committee session to consider a letter from Assistant Attorney General Joseph C. Duggan. Duggan, acting for McGrath, contended the committee was exceeding its powers.

Moreover, Duggan told the committee—just starting its inquiry into McGrath's conduct of office—that the executive branch of government was "independent (of and equal" to Congress and that:

It caught the committee by surprise. After a three-hour huddle, Chelf announced that McGrath will be called on to "explain more fully why he cannot comply with the committee's request."

McGrath himself was out of Washington. But Chelf issued a summons today to the Attorney General—or to his deputy, if McGrath cannot be located.

As to the challenge to the committee's authority, Chelf retorted "not only does the committee have the authority, but it intends to exercise that authority."

Weekly Maximum $28
The bill raises benefits to injured workers $4 a week, increasing the weekly maximum from $24 to $28. It also boosts the funeral benefit from $300 to $400.

Rep. Ed Carey (D-Detroit), Democratic floor leader, called the increases "tragically inadequate." He and other Democrats sponsored unsuccessful amendments to further liberalize the compensation system.

This battle was barely over before Rep. Eugene C. Betz (R-Monroe) kicked off renewed strife with a statement that Governor Williams was "following the countries which have become

Rebuttal Off Record
Speaker Victor A. Knox (R-Sault Ste. Marie), seeking to keep the peace, ruled the remarks too personal to be included in the House journal.

Then Rep. Martha W. Griffiths (D-Detroit), a former law partner of the governor, demanded the right to include her rebuttal in the Journal.

Knox quickly recessed the session and worked out a compromise with Democratic leaders under which Mrs. Griffiths made her rebuttal but not on the record.

She said that the real problem has been that the Republican legislature has not had "sufficient nerve to tax the corporations to meet our financial problems, while the Governor has constantly advocated this move."

Recovery Act Unusual
This crisis had just blown over when Rep. Louis Mezzano (D-Wakefield) moved to discharge a committee from consideration of his bill to exempt homesteads from the Old Age Assistance "lien law." The committee had killed the bill.

This provoked Knox to the point that he descended from the rostrum to make an almost unprecedented speech from the floor.

There is no such thing as a "lien law" in the state, he said. "There is a recovery act," he added, "which permits the state to recover old age assistance from the estates of deceased recipients."

But, he said, the law is not being used. He offered to pay Mezzano $50 for every recovery case he could find, that the state has started since the law was passed.

Mezzano's motion failed on a 28-62 vote.

Alleged Negro Beaters Freed
JACKSON, Miss.—(P)—A white jury took only 45 minutes to return a verdict of innocent in the Civil Rights trial of five Mississippi law officers accused of beating a handcuffed Negro prisoner.

Former Sheriff Robert E. Lee, 39, and four deputies were acquitted on all counts at the end of a two-day trial yesterday.

Mercy Train Takes Aid To Kushiro, Quake-Struck City

TOKYO—(P)—An eight car mercy train manned by soldiers of the U. S. First Cavalry division headed for the quake-struck city of Kushiro on the southeast coast of Hokkaido today.

The train was loaded with Army C rations and blankets. It carried radio and medical teams to aid victims of Tuesday's earthquake and tidal waves.

Bitter cold and driving snowstorms followed the quake. It will be tomorrow night before the relief train completes the roundabout trip from Sapporo to Kushiro. Quake shattered bridges and rail lines knocked out the direct 150 mile route.

The soldiers will live on cold C rations until they return. There is no heat on the train.

Government officials on Hokkaido said 21 persons were killed. U. S. Army authorities estimated 31 died in the quake and tidal waves which hit Hokkaido and northern Honshu.

Opposition Piles Up In Congress For Huge Grant

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON—(P)—President Truman asked a critical Congress today to vote every penny of his $7,900,000,000 new global foreign aid program to meet a Soviet threat against the "survival of civilization."

Tonight the President, fully aware of mounting Congressional ire over foreign aid spending, will go on every major radio and television network at 10:30 EST to carry his plea to the people.

Can't Turn Back
Talk of withdrawing to the western hemisphere "has momentary seductiveness," the President said, "because it would seem to relieve us of the contributions we are now making to collective defense."

But he said the adoption of such a policy would be a "mandate for national suicide."

The President said the money he is asking for would be spent to send arms to America's allies in Europe, to build up Allied Nations in the Middle and Far East, to help European countries manufacture their own arms, and to raise the living standards of Red-threatened nations in Africa and Asia.

Attacks Anticipated
Mr. Truman asked for the $7,900,000,000 in his budget message to Congress January 21. His total budget requests added up to $85,444,000,000.

Not a single dollar should be cut out of the proposed program, the President asserted, lest this nation be guilty of a "false economy" of "too little and too late."

In a special 7,500 word message, Mr. Truman anticipated the attacks of critics and economy advocates. He built his argument for carrying on the mutual security program around four basic reasons, which he set forth in these words:

"First, the plain fact is that we cannot achieve lasting security for ourselves except in association with other nations."

"Second, the funds provided by the United States under the mutual security program are essential to the success of the common efforts we are making with other free nations."

The boy, three-year-old Freddie, died yesterday morning in War Memorial hospital. The father died this morning.

Mrs. McLean, also burned when the flames raked the home at the village of Dafter, was reported in critical condition.

McLean discovered the fire in the home early Tuesday morning. He rushed out to arouse neighbors, then returned to rescue his wife and son.

Time To Call Truman Bluff On Reelection, Taft Backer Declares

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
WASHINGTON—(P)—Sen. Brewster (R-Me.) today challenged President Truman to seek reelection, saying "it's time to call his bluff."

Brewster, a supporter of Sen. Taft of Ohio for the Republican Presidential nomination, made the statement in commenting on remarks attributed to Truman by Rep. Bryson (D-SC).

Taft Favorite Foe
Bryson and Rep. Rivers (D-SC) conferred with the President yesterday and Bryson said afterward: "The President said that if he were sure that Taft would not get the Republican nomination and would not get elected if he got it, he (Truman) would know what to do himself about running. He indicated he would support any Democrat to beat Taft."

The President previously has said Taft is his favorite candidate for the Republican nomination. Taft has said he would rather run against Truman than any other Democrat.

Must Defend Record
The Maine Senator made it clear "critical time" alluded to New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation Presidential primary next Tuesday, a contest in which Taft and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower are the front runners on the GOP ticket.

Senate Studies Role Of Sleuth Morris In Aid To Red China

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON—(P)—Testimony that vessels of a New York shipping firm hauled cargoes to Red China after the start of the Korean war brought from Sen. Mundt (R-SD) today a sharp denunciation of such "blood soaked profits."

In stinging language, Mundt told New York attorney Houston H. Wasson that "You violated no law" but that he questioned the "faint hearted ethics" underlying the shipping firm's actions.

War Goods Carried
Wasson, law partner of government corruption investigator Newbold Morris, was back for the second day before the Senate Investigations Subcommittee which is digging into profitable deals in war surplus U. S. ships.

Wasson testified yesterday he and Morris were lawyers—but not chief counsel—for China Trading and Industrial Development Corp., a Chinese Nationalist firm which, he said, delivered oil to the Reds almost up to the start of the Korean fighting, and other goods until the war was six months old.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD), a subcommittee member, said the group intends to try to find out why Chinese Nationalists, using tankers flying the U. S. flag, would haul oil to the Reds.

Mother And 3 Babies Hanged

ROSLYN HEIGHTS, N. Y.—(P)—A Long Island mother hanged her three small children with their cowboy belts yesterday and then took her own life the same way.

Neighbors found the children hanging from the bed posts in their downstairs bedroom. Upstairs, the mother had used another cowboy belt to take her own life.

The victims were Mrs. Mary G. Klem, 30, and Frank Jr., 6, Richard, 4, and Margaret, 13 months.

The father, Frank J. Klem, a draftsman, was working in New York City when the tragedy occurred.

Later, Klem told police his wife had been "acting nervous" and had an appointment to see a psychiatrist next week. He said she had threatened several times to take her life.

Klem said his wife seemed all right when he left for work yesterday morning. A telephone call to her early in the day, he said, indicated she was "feeling fine."

Later calls, however, were not answered Klem said. It was then that he called a neighbor and asked her to investigate.

At the Klem home the lights were on and the television set was operating—but the doors were locked.

Forced entry through a storm window disclosed the bodies. The mother had covered the children's bodies with blankets.

Her own body hung from a hook in an upstairs closet.

And the family of Cpl. Robert Williams of suburban Wayne will be present Saturday at colorful ceremonies which are to mark the first plane's christening. One of his brothers has a special Army furlough to attend.

Robert's mother, Mrs. Ila Williams, will break the traditional bottle across the huge ship's nose with her two remaining sons at her side.

Robert was killed last Oct. 3 near Sichen, Korea, after nine months at the front.

Thompson Man Is Fire Victim

MANISTIQUE—William Maxwell, 75, died today in Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital of burns received yesterday afternoon when his home in Thompson was destroyed by fire.

He was brought to the hospital yesterday at about 5 p. m. and died early this morning.

Manistique fire department officials believe that Maxwell, alone in the house at the time of the fire, was attempting to build a fire in a wood stove with the use of kerosene when an explosion occurred.

A blast was heard by a neighbor, Charles Engebretsen, some distance from the Maxwell home.

It was reported that after the explosion Maxwell crawled out of the house with virtually all of his clothing burned away. He was taken to Schoolcraft hospital.

The county fire truck operated by the Manistique fire department arrived on the scene of the blaze too late to save the home. Efforts of the firemen were confined to preventing the fire from spreading to a neighbor's home. Driver of the truck was Fireman Harry Durno.

Mrs. Maxwell was in the Thompson store when the fire started. She is the only survivor known.

The body was taken to the Kefauver & Jackson Funeral Home. No funeral details were available.

Iron Mountain Gets Contracts

LANSING (AP)—Informed of the designation of Iron Mountain by the federal government as a labor surplus area, Governor Williams today instructed the emergency defense contracts commission to review all contracts on which Iron Mountain firms had been bidding.

He sent a telegram to Walker L. Cislser, commission chairman, asking that all such contracts be brought to the immediate attention of Armed Forces procurement agencies.

Three major contracts are being sought by the Kingsford Chemical Co. of Iron Mountain.

The governor said the federal designation "means that Iron Mountain will get the same preferential treatment in awarding defense contracts that is now given to 26 other critical areas in the nation. One of the important results is that Iron Mountain firms may be permitted to meet low bids on contracts which would otherwise go elsewhere."

Union Pickets Delta Hardware

Approximately 45 employees of the Delta Hardware were on strike this morning in objection to the company's refusal to grant a wage increase.

The strike was called at 4:30 a. m. and union members began picketing the entrances of the store at the opening of business hours.

Arnold Alsten, A. F. of L. representative of Teamsters' Local 28, reported that the strike was the result of several unsuccessful attempts to negotiate a settlement of the union's demands of a 20c per hour wage raise.

Negotiations Begun In 1951
Involved in the strike were all truck drivers, warehouse and office personnel. The sales staff are not members of the union.

Alsten declared that the 20c wage boost was initially asked in October prior to the termination of the contract in effect at that time. The raise was requested on a new contract which would be necessary upon the Dec. 1 termination of the old one.

Two strike notices were submitted to the company prior to the present one, Alsten said.

One was filed on Nov. 7 on the basis of the company's refusal to bargain. On this the company arranged to meet with the union in an attempt to resolve the issue, the union official reported.

Wage Raise Offered
A 5c increase was offered by the company which was rejected by the union and another strike notice filed on Dec. 7 for refusal of the company to negotiate a satisfactory settlement, Alsten said.

At the last meeting with the company, it was reported by Alsten, arbitration of the issue was proposed by the union. Company officials agreed then, he said, that arbitration "was something to consider."

Alsten reported that Delta Hardware wages are 19c below the standard rate.

Company officials declined to comment on the strike this morning.

House Sidetracks UMT Bill For This Session Of Congress

THE controversial UMT bill was sidetracked for this session of Congress yesterday when the House voted, 236 to 162, to send the bill back to committee.

This does not mean, of course, that the universal military training issue is dead. It will probably be an issue in the approaching congressional election campaign and it is not unlikely that it will bob up again when the new Congress convenes. Also there is a possibility that it may even come up again during the present session.

'Voice Of America' Marks Its Tenth Birthday

THE Voice of America is now 10 years old. Its span of life measures the time we have been actively organized on our real awareness of the importance of propaganda in the developing contest for men's minds.

Taken over all the Voice's performance in this first decade must be commended as a resounding success. It has spread the story of America effectively in many countries, buoying the hope of oppressed peoples, carrying the message of free men.

It has sufficient imagination in its upper echelons to be continually experimenting with new ideas, new avenues of approach to the foreign peoples we are trying to reach. It consistently endeavors to expand its operations, within the financial limits imposed by an often skeptical Congress.

But this does not mean the Voice has done anything like a perfect job. In its growing pains stage, it was guilty of many gross errors, some pretty hard to forgive. A distorted picture of America was sometimes presented. Guidance of the programs occasionally appeared loose and disjointed.

The Voice operates, of course, under certain inherent handicaps. As legally constituted, it is an arm of the State Department. It cannot present material, or a point of view, which is at variance with official government policy. It cannot and does not promote rebellion behind the Iron Curtain.

Sources behind the Curtain frequently have complained that this sorely restricts its usefulness. They declare that Europeans under the Russian heel want to know more specifically what hope there is for them in America's program, and what they may do to get ready for the day of liberation.

They lament further that Voice programs too often stress irrelevant aspects of American life, instead of emphasizing the elements of the democratic way which can have the most meaning and hope for them. And they don't always like the manner the Voice employs in presenting its material.

So long as the Voice is tied to the State Department, it cannot divorce itself from official policy, nor mix too closely in European affairs.

To a considerable extent, however, this complaint is now being met by the supplementary and vital activities of Radio Free Europe. Aided by a powerful transmitter in the Munich area, RFE is talking to the Iron Curtain peoples in their own terms. Czechs are telling Czechs what the truth is in their own land, urging action against spies and saboteurs (though not revolt), and generally spurring hope.

But the Voice apparently will continue to have the responsibility of conveying to Europeans a sane and useful picture of the United States. And there is no visible reason why after 10 years, this cannot be done with full and clear emphasis upon the features of our living which have most significance for foreign listeners.

Iron Curtain dissidents have felt that Voice broadcasters sounded more like actors running through their parts than like sincere partisans of democracy trying to sell the merits of their system to others—and keep hopes of freedom alive.

We have every right to expect steady progress by the Voice in tailoring its programs more closely to European and other foreign needs. And the directors and personnel of the Voice, in turn, have every right to anticipate from Congress and the people a stout measure of support in reward for a job fundamentally well done.

The Doctor Says ... Smoking Can Affect Lungs, Blood Pressure and Stomach

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D. — Written for NEA Service

Again and again, correspondents ask for a discussion of smoking. Some, generally those who are not smokers themselves, expect such a discussion to point out the evils of the use of this weed. Others, usually those who are smokers themselves, would like to be reassured that they are not harming themselves unduly.

The facts as now known do not support either of these points of view entirely. Tobacco smoke irritates the delicate mucous linings of the breathing passages. Coated tongue in heavy smokers is the rule.

The throat and larynx, or voice box, are irritated by heavy smoking and smokers frequently have a slight cough and hoarseness. It may increase the chances of developing lung cancer.

The person who stops heavy smoking suddenly tends to gain weight merely because he eats more. People with ulcers of the stomach frequently are advised not to smoke.

Smoking increases the acid secretions of the stomach and tends to slow healing of an ulcer, according to some authorities. Excessive smoking interferes with athletic performance. Shortness of breath on exertion after smoking is usual. Athletes in training are not supposed to smoke during the period of their competition.

Many smokers complain of cold hands and feet. This is because the nicotine absorbed causes some of the blood vessels to contract and, therefore, to carry less warming blood to these regions.

BLOOD PRESSURE MAY RISE

In some people the tightening of the blood vessels is so great after smoking that a temporary increase in blood pressure is produced. Those who have a definite blood vessel disease, such as Buerger's disease or Raynaud's disease, should be definitely forbidden to smoke.

Other people whose blood vessels respond unfavorably to smoking probably should give up the habit.

Whether smoking shortens life is highly debatable. One study of this subject came to the conclusion that in men, at least, smokers after the age of 40 have a lower average expectation of life than do non-smokers.

Different people are affected differently by tobacco smoking. Those who show definitely unfavorable effects or have diseases in which tobacco smoking is pretty well known to be harmful should give up the habit.

The rest may feel that the pleasure of smoking is worth the possible harm. The easiest way to sidestep the issue is not to start.

The tax collector will probably influence more people to stop smoking than any statements about the effect of tobacco on health.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The White House has hushed it up, but clean-up man Newbold Morris came within a whisker the other day of packing his bags and going home. He was stopped at the last minute by a personal appeal from President Truman, himself.

The inside story is that Morris, depressed over the runaround he was getting, decided that his assignment was "impossible." He announced his decision to quit at a routine conference with Justice Department officials.

"I'm going home," he declared simply. "This thing hasn't been thought through. For example, I'm supposed to report my investigations to the very man I'm supposed to be investigating."

Morris was referring, of course, to his boss—Attorney General McGrath.

Within a few minutes, however, word of Morris's surprise decision was flashed to the White House, and Presidential Aide Charlie Murphy was rushed to Morris's office.

Talking fast, Murphy urged the new trouble-shooter to talk it over with President Truman, and promptly hustled him to the White House. Within half an hour, Morris was in the Oval room conferring earnestly with the President.

Truman begged Morris to stay on, promised him a free hand and guaranteed full White House support.

"You can have anything you want," the President offered.

It was a result of this dramatic, spur-of-the-moment meeting that the President personally appealed to Congress for subpoena power for Morris and moved Morris's headquarters out of the Justice Department into the old Washington Post building.

SENATOR'S MEMORY FAELS

Michigan's tousle-haired Sen. Homer Ferguson would rather ask questions than answer them about the Institute of Pacific Relations.

As a member of the Senate Security Committee, which is trying to prove the I. P. R. is Communist-dominated, Ferguson fumed and snorted at Owen Lattimore last week about his association with I. P. R.

At the session's close, Ferguson lingered to chat with reporters and review his afternoon's triumph. But a reporter cut him short by inquiring sweetly: "Senator, have you ended your own association with the Institute of Pacific Relations?"

Ferguson's lips drew tight, and he snapped: "It's in the record."

"Can't you tell me yourself whether you quit the I. P. R.?" pressed the newsman.

"I can't remember the exact date," barked the Michigan senator, and he marched out of the room.

Apparently the shoe pinched when it was on the other foot.

Note—Ferguson boasted of his membership in the Institute of Pacific Relations as late as the 1950-51 edition of Who's Who in America.

UMT BATTLE

Blood pressures shot up, collars got hot and voices collided sharply as House Republicans wrangled behind closed doors last week over the universal military training bill to draft 18-year-olds. Congressman Dick Simpson of Pennsylvania, who presided, almost busted his gavel trying to keep tempers from exploding.

Rep. Sterling Cole of New York, a militant UMT advocate, argued that the people favored the youth-training program as an antidote to future wars. Popular polls proved this, said Cole. However, Congressman Dewey Short of Missouri contended that we already were drafting men for war and should not superimpose UMT on top of selective service.

"This is another example of the military reaching out for more power," snorted Short. "If UMT is adopted in any form, we'll never be able to repeal it."

Another member of the Armed Services committee, Rep. William Bates of Massachusetts, said there was nothing in the lengthy testimony before the committee to convince him that UMT was needed.

"On the contrary, it would be a rash step, in my judgment," he said, "to permit the Pentagon to get its foot in the door."

Other Republicans argued that a vote for UMT would be a vote for "more military waste," since combat officers weren't available to carry out a training program for high-school graduates even on a token scale.

Rep. James Van Zandt of Pennsylvania, always a walkie-talkie of the Pentagon, warned his colleagues that they would face the opposition of the American Legion and "other powerful groups" in the next election if they didn't support the UMT bill.

"The American Legion is for it, and the American people are for it," shouted Van Zandt.

"Nuts!" exploded GOP Congressman Paul Shafer of Michigan. "We've been against UMT before and the Legion hasn't defeated us. Besides, the rank-and-file of the Legion isn't making an issue of this. It's only a few national leaders who are lobbying for the Pentagon."

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Bondoeng, Java—Hope of holding Java was dwindling as the country was being virtually torn apart by the Japanese invaders.

London—A quiet campaign of great strength to unseat Winston Churchill and place Sir Stafford Cripps in the British prime ministry was begun by opponents of Churchill's methods of fighting the war.

Washington, D. C.—George S. Viereck, alleged mastermind of German propaganda in the United States, was indicted by a grand jury in federal district court of withholding essential information when he registered with the state department as an agent of German interests.

20 YEARS AGO

Hopewell, N. J.—An offer to deal directly and confidentially with the kidnappers of their blue-eyed young son was made personally by Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, pledging themselves not "to injure in any way those persons connected with the return of the child."

Gladstone—Irene Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Price, was confined to her home at 1408 Wisconsin avenue with an attack of the flu.

Where the Flying Fishes Play

Ridgway Says He's Still Hoping For Peace Settlement In Korea

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Writer

TOKYO — (NEA) — The man who knows the most about what's going on out here is optimistic of a peace settlement in Korea.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Supreme Commander of United Nations Forces in the Far East, said in an exclusive interview:

"In the past few weeks I have found reason to become much more optimistic about the chances of achieving an armistice from the talks at Panmunjom."

"Encouraging signs of the (the enemy's) willingness to come to an agreement have been multiplying greatly."

This is the strongest confirmation to date of the persistent rumors from Washington, Tokyo and the Peace Train at Munsan. The rumors were that somewhere in the seemingly-endless wrangling of the negotiators, a major logjam had been broken and that a genuine cease-fire before Spring was possible.

Ridgway spoke with complete candor, only qualifying his views by stating that he could only speculate at this stage and could not make a flat prediction of a satisfactory agreement.

The Supreme Commander was interviewed at his headquarters, a businesslike, but friendly place with less military pomp about it than the offices of some brigadier generals in the Pentagon.

Ridgway shows little of the strain he must have been under since taking command of a badly mauled and dispirited UN force during December, 1950. He laughs heartily, smiles frequently and talks easily to visitors. In fine physical condition, he has a relaxed approach to his duties as commander in a major military engagement, key figure in peace negotiations with Japan and boss of SCAP and the UN forces fighting in Korea.

And he is perfectly willing to discuss the alternative if the truce talks break down completely.

"The United States Government is not I," he says, "will have to decide what to do next in that case. And that decision will be governed by public opinion."

"If the American people want to shoulder the burden in money and blood of continued fighting we are here to carry out their wishes." Then he became very grave as he added: "The public must realize that you can't make omelets without breaking eggs."

Ridgway admits the Communists have won two advantages by prolonging the peace talks.

"They have had a chance to dig in, resupply themselves greatly both on the ground and in the air and establish a strong zone of defense in depth where they once had a slim line in front of us," he explained.

And he admitted that the morale of UN forces, without the pressure of major fighting to keep them tuned, is deteriorating.

"We are losing our keen edge, and it is natural," said Ridgway. "The longer men are away from being shot at, the less inclination they have for the hazards of combat. Men who are under fire develop a tendency to ignore it, not recklessly, but certainly they lose much of their apprehension."

"I am concerned about this and I am watching it closely, but it is nothing to be alarmed about. It is nothing that can't be changed in a hurry under good leadership

GEN. MATTHEW RIDGWAY, talking with reporter Douglas Larsen, warned that the Reds had won two advantages by prolonging the peace discussions at Panmunjom, Korea.

if a sudden major action should flare up.

"And we have good leadership in Korea—the best you can get."

Discussing the air war which appears to be gaining in fury while the ground fighting wanes, Ridgway said the Air Force is putting forth its maximum with what is available. He was also high in praise of the job that Navy and Marine air are doing.

Ridgway had no patience with criticisms that some commanders in Korea have let themselves become too vulnerable to air attack by building up large, visible stocks of supplies and arms and aircraft.

"When you disperse your forces as a defense against enemy air you lose efficiency," he said. "We think we have adequate warning methods in the event of attempted major air assault on our ground troops and supplies. It could do damage but it would not be anywhere near a paralyzing blow."

Taking a long look at the Korean fighting, Ridgway believed it has proved the soundness of both the established U.S. tactical doctrines and the concept of the balance of forces as determined by the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

"The only time we really got in trouble out here," he said, "was when we forgot to apply our basic tactical doctrine correctly."

New Kingdom Of Libya Is Africa's Latest Country

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The new-born Kingdom of Libya is Africa's fourth and largest independent country with no tie to foreign crown or colonial empire.

Joining Ethiopia, Egypt and Liberia in free status, the Libyan nation came into being in December as the final powers of government over a vast sandswipe slice of North Africa were turned over by British and French administrators to a new federal monarchy.

Three provinces, Tripolitania, Cyrenaica and the Fezzan, make up the domain of Libya's King Sayyid Mohammed Idris el Mahdi el Senussi, the National Geographic Society says. The former Emir of Cyrenaica will rule from two capitals, Bengasi and Tripoli.

Libya was the pride of Mussolini's African empire. It saw bitter seesaw fighting in World War II. Then the United Nations stepped in.

As an experiment in statesmanship, Libya's emergence as a free nation ranks with the creation of Czechoslovakia after World War I, or the independence granted the Philippine Republic by the U. S. in 1946.

Today the desert reaches to the sea in Libya. But once there were great forests on the northern coast roamed by elephants and other beasts of the jungle. Through the forests wound caravans from the unknown interior, bringing ivory and gold and ostrich feathers for the merchants of Phoenicia, who set up trading posts on the seacoast 1600 years before Christ.

Phoenicians were followed by Greeks. Warriors of Carthage ruled from the west. Roman legions built great cities that still stand in ruins in the Libyan sands. Vandals came from the far-off Baltic, succeeding the Roman Empire. Arabs swept across North Africa from the east.

In the centuries that followed, Moslem potentates of the Barbary Coast extracted pirate tribute from many of the nations of Europe. Tripoli fought a war with the United States (1801-05) which made Stephen Decatur and the infant U. S. Navy known around the world, and gave the Marines their praise "the shores of Tripoli."

Italy took Libya from the disintegrating Ottoman Empire in 1911 and 1912. Later, Fascism undertook its colonization and modernization. The colony lasted little more than a decade—until the British Eighth Army moved west from El Alamein.

Monks were the timekeepers of the Middle Ages, and monastery bells told the time to all living within their range, says the National Geographic Society. The word clock really signifies bell, and comes from the Old French cloche, the German glocke, the Medieval Latin clocca, and the Old English clurge.

WORDS AND THE MAN — Through a number of years as a newspaper man it has been our privilege, pleasure, and painful obligation to listen to many speakers.

They have ranged from the sublime to the ridiculous; some of them said more in a few minutes than others accomplished in an hour; and the unfortunate few resembled Demosthenes in training—he spoke with a mouthful of pebbles and shouted against the roar of wind and wave.

Demosthenes is credited with being quite an orator in his day and the Greeks loved him so much they banished him a couple of times. Perhaps he talked too long.

Fortunately the U. S. Congress has not yet considered the possibility of banishing long-winded orators. If such a law were put on the books (and judging by the Congressional Record) the halls of Congress would soon be empty.

THE INTRODUCTIONS — Customarily the speaker, regardless of the occasion must be introduced.

This formality is the responsibility of a chairman who must briefly recite the background, accomplishments, hobbies, inclinations or business or profession of the speaker he is presenting.

Once introduced the speaker is on his own to sink or swim, survive or perish according to his ability. The audience is of little consequence. I have known speakers who failed miserably for a solid hour and the audience sat through it like heroes on Heartbreak Ridge.

Probably not since the days of Will Rogers has an audience really enjoyed a speaker.

THAT REMINDS HIM—No speaker worth his salt will immediately launch in, to his message.

First he must strive to establish a feeling of sympathetic union with his listeners. He does this by complimenting them. If he comes from Lower Michigan, for example, he will always make some remarks about the fresh air and sunshine and so forth of the Upper Peninsula and how he loves to "be here again in God's country."

Following this verbal fancy work the speaker will think of something that reminds him of a story.

Now it does not take much to remind a speaker of a story. One orator, noting the program chairman was wearing a green tie launched into a Pat and Mike story, because he said "that reminds me of a story."

PLENTY OF MEAT—Most speakers feel they must give their audience "something to think about."

The above is accomplished, more often than not, by the use of statistics. To the normal group of individuals comprising an audience, statistics are fine in their place. That place is in an accountant's or engineer's report, not in a talk to a defenseless group of listeners.

After weighing out a few bushels of statistics the speaker will congratulate himself for giving his audience something to think about. He mistakes the glassy look in their eyes for rapt attention.

THE PUNCH LINE—Speakers often come to the closing line in talks fifteen or twenty minutes before they stop talking.

This closing line is the one that carries the punch and should be held to the end of the talk. But the speaker goes rambling merrily along, repeating his message with variations, until the climax of any point he sought to make is lost.

With the election year now budding into a promise of oratorical magnificence, speakers not running for office might subside and give the politicians a free rein.

In any event it would be well for habitual speakers to listen occasionally to other speakers. It would emphasize the virtue of brevity of nothing more.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

THE WATERS OF LETHE — Let fancy still my sense in Lethe steep. If it be thus to dream, still let me sleep! Thus wrote Shakespeare in "Twelfth Night." But what did he mean, and who does the poet mean who writes of "the waters of Lethe?"

According to the myths or popular beliefs of ancient Greece, there was a river in the lower world, or the region of Hades (HAY-deez), having the name "Lethe" (LEE-thee). Its waters were unusual, for it was believed that anyone who drank of them totally forgot all his past life. Shade of the dead, drinking of this stream, forgot all the pain, suffering, and sorrow of life on earth, and entered into the pleasures of Elysium (i-LIZ-i-um), or place of perfect happiness. So "the waters of Lethe" of the poet mean forgetfulness, and Shakespeare thought of one being steeped in Lethe as one being asleep and dreaming.

Another word for forgetfulness is day dreaming, especially if the waters of Lethe wash over one by day. We call it also "oblivion" (uh-BLIV-i-un), if the person deeply wrapped in slumber or just day dreaming, is completely unconscious or "oblivious" (uh-BLIV-i-us) of things around him. And we also say that one has been consigned to oblivion when we mean that he has been forgotten by others.

Sometimes it seems as if the waters of Lethe had been sipped, if not drunk, when a person falls into a state of drowsy dullness or is overcome by a desire to sleep. Ancient Greek physicians called such condition "lethargia." And we speak of this condition now as "lethargy" (LETH-ur-ji).

Our word "lethal" (LEE-thul), which means deadly, as "a lethal weapon," although once thought to have come from "Lethe," is now known to have had no connection with the name of that river.

Runs Of Smelt May Be Early

LANSING — (AP) — Michigan's first good smelt runs can be expected around the first of April, the state conservation department advised.

The runs don't generally hit their peak until mid-April and usually are over by the second week of May, the department said.

An early spring will advance the start of the runs while continued cold will delay the seasonal dashes up the many tributary streams of the Great Lakes.

Usually, over 40 degrees of water temperature is needed to start the run. The peak upstream movements develops when the temperature is around 50 degrees, the department said.

Two of the best smelt runs in recent years were named as the Green Bay tributary streams in Menominee and Delta counties and the Saginaw bay tributary streams in Arenac, Huron and Iosco counties.

Substantial runs also have developed in tributaries in Alcona, Alpena, Leelanau, Emmet, Grand Traverse, Antrim, Charlevoix, Mackinac and Chippewa counties.

Birth Record In 1951 To Reach 3,833,000

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Preliminary figures indicate a record 3,833,000 births in the United States in 1951, the public health service reported today.

The previous high was 3,818,000 in 1947.

"Because of the small difference between the two figures, it is necessary to wait for final data for 1951 before determining whether 1951 is definitely the all-time high," the agency said in a news release.

The infant mortality rate dropped last year for the fifteenth straight year. The 1951 rate was 26.8 per thousand live births, contrasted with 47.4 in 1940 and 64.8 in 1930.

The national overall death rate last year was listed as 9.7 per thousand population, practically the same as for 1950 and the fourth year in a row it has been below 10 deaths per thousand population.

Baraga State Forest Has Biggest Spruce

LANSING — (AP) — Discover of a new record white spruce tree, believed to be the largest in the U. S., was reported by the state conservation department.

The department said a tree nine feet and one and one quarter inches in circumference has been discovered about 10 miles north-east of Ontonagon in the Baraga state forest by department field men.

The previous record-holder was a white spruce eight feet and eight and three quarters inches around located east of Ontonagon on private land.

Mechanical Sleuths Being Put On Trail Of Baggage Smashers

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A mechanical Sherlock Holmes is being put on the trail of baggage smashers.

It's a miniature earthquake detector, fitted with a timing device which runs for seven days and a tape which records every jar and jolt.

The battery-operated seismograph is small and light enough to be concealed in any medium-sized package.

It has been tested successfully by an automobile manufacturer who wanted to run down the cause of breakage in mailed engine parts; by a manufacturer looking into shipping damage of his refrigerators, and by American Airlines.

Military Air Transport Service (MATS) said it has ordered several of the dry-cell detectors for use on its various divisions around the world.

MATS hopes to determine at what points in its journey a parcel receives rough treatment and—by checking timetables—to pin the blame on a bumpy truck, a vibrating plane or a baggage-handler.

Dearborn Gets Ford College

DEARBORN, Mich. — (P) — The Henry Ford Community College of Dearborn will be established here with a gift of $1,000,000 from the assets of the Henry Ford Trade School.

The 36-year-old Trade School will close at the end of its present term next August.

A joint announcement of the project was made last night by the Dearborn Board of Education and the trustees of the Trade School.

The present Dearborn Junior College will be incorporated in the new Community Junior College.

The new school will provide vocational and technical education at the junior college level.

The Trade School was founded in 1916 by the late Henry Ford. Since then it has graduated more than 8,000 students including many now prominent in Detroit civic and industrial activities.

Some 600 students of the Trade School will return to their own community high schools when the school closes. Trustees said part of the reason for its closing was that vocational and technical training now is offered on a far wider scale in high schools than when the trade school was established.

Millard Won't Join U. S. Grand Jury Quiz

LANSING — (P) — Attorney General Frank G. Millard refused today to join in a federal grand jury investigation of crime.

The attorney general said he was invited to appear before the grand jury in Grand Rapids by U. S. District Attorney Joseph F. Deeb and to assist in the investigation.

Millard said federal rules limit grand juries to crimes against federal statutes and forbid the disclosure of evidence they may uncover to anyone but the district attorneys.

This rule, he said, might block state officials from investigating crimes against state law if they were privy to the secrets of the federal grand jury.

Idaho Killer Caught With Body Of His Mother In Car Trunk

CLARKDALE, Ariz. — (P) — Searl M. Ward, 26-year-old Almo, Idaho, man who admitted killing his mother and then stuffing her body in the trunk compartment of his car, today will be returned to Idaho authorities after he waived extradition.

Ward was arrested here yesterday without offering resistance although he had a loaded .22 caliber rifle and several hundred rounds of ammunition in the car.

Ward said he killed his 62-year-old mother, Mrs. Alice Ward, during a fight at 1 p. m. Tuesday in Idaho. Ward said he quarreled with his mother because of his 10-week growth of beard and that she objected to his contemplated trip to Alaska.

A service station attendant noticed blood dripping from the car and notified a state highway patrolman. Ward told officers he shot his mother twice and after an 800-mile trip had begun to dig a grave for her near here when he changed his mind and continued to Clarkdale.

Vote Switch Puts Autoine Pinay In As French Premier

PARIS — (P) — Antoine Pinay was confirmed as premier of France today by a dramatic switch of votes in the national assembly.

The Conservative businessman-politician squeezed through 324 votes, nine more than the bare minimum needed. There were 206 votes against him.

More than a score of votes in his favor came from followers of Gen. Charles De Gaulle.

Opposition Piles Up For Truman's Foreign Aid Fund

tions for peace.

"Third, the funds thus invested by the United States will yield far larger returns, in terms of our own security, than if the same amount were used for our own defense establishment.

"Fourth, the cost of the mutual security program, together with the much larger costs of our military services and other defense measures, are well within our economic capacity."

Tough Fight Ahead

Despite Mr. Truman's appeal, administration officials expected a tough, prolonged fight over the amount, especially over that part which would be spent to aid the economies of Allied nations in contrast to the billions which would be spent to furnish them guns, tanks and planes.

In his message the President repeatedly emphasized an American role of leadership of the "free world." He declared "we must show the world that we can meet any crisis, and that temporary frustration will not drive us to panicky aggression or to ignominious retreat."

The President said that for the fiscal year beginning July 1 the total security programs he is sponsoring total about $4 billion dollars. He said the burden of this cost and what it means in cutbacks of civilian production "are clearly within our economic capacity." The sum covers appropriations proposed for U. S. armed forces as well as help to foreign countries.

War On Retreat

If there is any question about the size of the $7,900,000,000 mutual security program, he said, "it is not whether it is too large, but whether it is too small." He called it an amount "which will bring returns (in security) no other policy could hope to produce so economically."

The President rejected what he described as two alternatives — "Deliberate War"—that is a war launched by the democracies to crush Russia—and the "Policy of Retreat" to the western hemisphere.

"The policy of premeditated and deliberate war," he said, "is one which no Democratic or God-fearing people can for a moment entertain."

"The policy of retreat would deprive us of (Allied) armed forces which, if called upon to fight for the defense of their own countries, would at the same time be fighting for the defense of ours. x x x

"It would require us to become a garrison state, and to impose upon ourselves a system of centralized regimentation unlike anything we have ever known."

"In the end, when the enemy, encouraged by our retreat, began to organize the rest of the world against us, we would face the prospect of bloody battle—and on our own shores. The ultimate costs of such a policy would be incalculable. Its adoption would be a mandate for national suicide."

Cutbacks Demanded

Secretary of State Acheson already has made a similar public appeal, in reporting on new military agreements reached by the recent 14-nation North Atlantic conference at Lisbon, Portugal.

Even before the Truman message officially arrived, Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) told a reporter:

"The program ought to be cut squarely in half and even that is being too generous."

Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which will hold hearings on the new aid program, has been urging a cutback in all government spending, including foreign aid.

Similar suggestions have come from Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn.) of the Senate Appropriations Committee, which must vote later on actual funds after the authorization is passed; Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the tax-writing Senate Finance Committee; and Chairman O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) of the Senate-House Economic Committee.

Drama Guild Play Tonight

The final play in the Civic Drama Guild series "Heaven Can Wait," will be presented at the William Oliver auditorium here this evening under the sponsorship of the Escanaba Lions club. Curtain time is 8:15.

The play is a delightful comedy by Harry Segal and features an all star, all professional cast. The play was a popular Broadway attraction for a long run.

It has been announced two of the plays in the 1952-53 series have been selected and patrons will be asked tonight to indicate whether they desire to subscribe to season tickets next year.

The two plays chosen are "The Trial of Mary Dugan" and "Candide," the latter a comedy. The final play in the series will be selected from the current productions on Broadway and will be announced later.

The cast of tonight's play follows:

Mr. Jordan — Arthur Edwards
Messenger No. 7013 — Irving Karesh
Joe Pendleton — Robert Spence
Tony Abbott — Lee Henry
Julia Farnsworth — Joe Walitt
Betty Logan — Elaine Meredith
Max Levene — Ben Stone
Inspector Williams — Lee Henry
Lefty — Irving Karesh

Diary Of General From U. S. Copied By Berlin Red Spy

WASHINGTON — (P) — The Army said today "an individual believed to be a Soviet agent" sneaked into an American general's room in Frankfurt last summer and took pictures of his diary. The diary expressed the general's views that war with Russia is imminent.

The Army officer was identified as Maj. Gen. Robert W. Grow, 56, former military attaché at Moscow. He has since been reassigned to the Pentagon.

The Army announcement said excerpts from the diary were printed in an anti-American book which attempted "to 'prove' Gen. Grow and the U. S. Army 'tools of Wall Street' and 'warmongers,' and that Gen. Grow was a spy."

Part of the contents of the book was made public here today.

The story was first released in a copyrighted story by the Washington Post.

Grow himself was not available for comment.

Vandenberg Stays 14 Months More As Air Force Boss

WASHINGTON — (P) — President Truman has formally nominated Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg for a new 14-months term as Chief of Staff of the Air Force.

He sent Vandenberg's nomination to the Senate.

Vandenberg will complete a four-year term as air chief on April 30. The White House announced Saturday that he would be given the new bob-tailed appointment.

Presidential Secretary Joseph Short explained that Vandenberg will complete 30 years service on June 30, 1953, and the President did not want him to take a subordinate command before he reaches his retirement date.

Fund Of $3,500 Set Aside To Push Sale Of Michigan Eggs

LANSING — (P) — The state agriculture commission today said a promotion fund of $3,500 has been approved to try and stimulate the sale of Michigan eggs.

Of the total, $1,500 has been earmarked for newspaper advertising, $1,000 will be spent on trade journal advertising and another $500 will go for special promotion.

Governor Williams recently proclaimed Feb. 27 to March 12 "Egg Weeks" in Michigan in an effort to help sell the surplus.

Time To Call The Truman Bluff, Taft Backer Says

not trying to help Taft," Brewster said. "He was intimating that if the Republican party doesn't nominate Taft, maybe he (Truman) won't fight us to the extent he otherwise would."

"I say it's time to call his bluff. Let him run again. He is the one who most certainly personifies the record of his administration for good or evil. Let him go out and defend the record as a candidate."

"Let him put it up to the people to decide whether they want more of his administration."

Russell Good Man

Brewster told this reporter he was disclosing for the first time that about two and a half years ago at a dinner Truman "called me aside" and said:

"Nominate a real Republican who believes in your principles and we will have a showdown and I will abide by the result."

Brewster said he reminded Truman of the conversation when he called at the White House last month.

"He remembered it," the Senator said. "I told him I had done my level best to get him a real Republican (Taft) and I asked him how about doing his part. He just grinned."

Bryson, in reporting on his talk with Truman yesterday, said the President was "openly complimentary" about Sen. Russell of Georgia, an announced candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

Bryson added that the President said "he was leery about the geographic area from which Russell comes," and that "he wished Russell came from Kentucky instead of Georgia."

Kalamazoo Man, 50, Dies In Home Fire

KALAMAZOO — (P) — Wilbur Glenn, 50, died in flames which virtually destroyed his home early today.

Glenn's body was found near his bedroom where he had been trapped by the blaze. Firemen worked three hours to extinguish the fire. Cause of the blaze was not immediately determined, but there was a report from a neighbor that an explosion preceded the fire.

Glenn was alone in the story and a half frame dwelling. His wife and 15-year-old daughter were baby sitting at a friend's house at the time.

Germans Peddle Ruhr Secrets To Russians

BONN, Germany — (P) — Four German industrialists are suspected of peddling industrial secrets of the rich Ruhr basin to Communist East Germany.

Announcing their arrest yesterday, the West German interior ministry said they were seized at their hotel at Kettwig, near Essen. Other suspects were reported to have gone into hiding.

The industrialists were not identified, and it was not indicated what secrets they may have given away. Illegal trade in many items has flourished between West and East Germany.

Dogfight Downs Communist Mig

By MILO FARNETI

SEOUL, Korea — (P) — American Sabre jets destroyed a Communist Mig and damaged another today in a 10-minute battle. The dogfight ranged as far south as the North Korean capital, Pyongyang, just 70 miles north of Parallel 38.

Capt. Henry Frazer of Stuart, Fla., was credited with shooting down the Red jet in a fight between six Sabres and 22 Migs. Col. Harrison Thyng, commander of the fourth wing, reported one Mig damaged.

Allied fighter-bombers cut Communist rail lines in 92 places and destroyed or damaged 50 boxcars, the Fifth Air Force said. Marine Corsair pilots reported destroying two Communist tanks in attacks northeast of Pyongyang, apex city of the old Communist iron triangle.

On the ground, hit-and-run Allied raiders killed 40 Communists and wounded 30 in four firefights west of the Mundung valley in eastern Korea.

U. N. artillery and infantrymen attacked near the old Iron Triangle on the central front Thursday morning.

About 180 Reds opened fire on an advanced U. N. position near the Kumwha-Kumsong road about midnight. The Reds were hurled back after a one hour and 15 minute fight.

The Reds are showing increased interest in the road to Kumsong, battered former Communist supply hub.

WFTU Spearhead Of Reds' Fifth Column

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
VIENNA —(AP)— Behind every open Communist party in Europe is a hidden inner organization with strings leading to Moscow. The Cominform coordinates the overall drive to dominate Western Europe. One of the Cominform's principal helpers is the World Federation of Trade Unions, working to coordinate the work of front organizations.

The WFTU, with headquarters in Vienna, serves as a transmission belt for the Cominform. The WFTU is housed in a building within the Ringstrasse, the international section of divided Vienna. The building, at 3 Sailerstaette, is also used by Soviet officials of the various industries the USSR has taken from Austria in the Russian version of Potsdam.

Not Legal Organization
WFTU is not registered with the Austrian government, as it ordinarily should be under Austrian law. Its foreign officers have asked the police for residence permits and have been refused on the ground that the WFTU is not a legal organization in Austria. This ordinarily would mean the FTU would have to clear out.

But the WFTU has no intention of getting out. Vienna is entirely too valuable to it and to its Communist bosses. Vienna is a western city of great culture, a city respected all over the civilized world. It makes an ideal point, from the Communist view, for launching various propaganda drives and for coordinating Communist efforts.

So the WFTU foreign officers appealed the police decision to the security director, the next authority up the ladder from the police. If necessary, the WFTU simply will ignore the Austrian order and remain under Soviet protection. Foreign officers of the WFTU live in the Soviet sector, under Soviet protection. Their building in the Ring is leased from "The Society for the Promotion of Cultural and Economic Relations between Austria and the USSR", called the Austro-Soviet Society for short.

The WFTU office is on the second floor. The rest is occupied by Soviet officials of such enterprises as the distributing agency for oil from the Zistersdorf fields, which the Russians have taken over.

The WFTU was founded in 1945, when trade unions, noting that the United Nations charter provided for an international organization of workers, sought to build such an organization. The American CIO and the British Trade Unions Congress (TUC) were charter members. The American Federation of Labor refused to have anything to do with an organization which included Soviet trade unions, contending the Soviet unions were creatures of the state.

Propaganda Bureau
This first WFTU fell apart as the Communist more and more dominated it. The final break was in a debate over the Marshall Plan in 1949. The American CIO and the British TUC, along with paganda meeting with Red overtones. The recent international conference of the Red-dominated Metal Workers Union in Vienna is a synthesis of all the labor drives pushed by WFTU.

The metal workers union first issued resolutions demanding higher pay, shorter hours, paid vacations, old age pensions, social security and many other things. Then it unmasked itself. It proceeded to pass resolutions for a five-power peace pact, the insistent cry of the Soviet peace offensive. It opposed remilitarization of the West, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and rearming in West Germany. The metal workers are targets of a particularly concentrated drive throughout Western Europe. They are key workers in the Western defense program. Communist domination of them could play havoc with the western program.

Rest For Weary Artists In Italy

MILAN, Italy—(AP)—An international "house of rest" for aging artists and writers will be built here by "Angelicum", a cultural organization sponsored by the Franciscan Friars.

A spokesman for Angelicum said the house would offer bed and meals for visiting foreign writers. Its permanent guests would be "those who in the decline of their creativeness may need care and assistance."

Funds for the house of rest will be collected through art shows, writings and collections in Italy and abroad. Organizers here said groups in the United States, Brazil, Sweden, France and Switzerland are co-operating.

Cancer Killer Drugs Advance

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
CINCINNATI—A new British drug is helping some people with one form of chronic leukemia, the blood cancer.

It came from a 20-year search into the cause of cancer, and that hunt promises far better cancer-killers to come.

The drug and research were described to the second national cancer conference by Dr. Alexander Haddow, director of the Chester Beatty Research Institute, Royal Cancer Hospital in London.

The drug is GT-41, a code name in honor of George Timmis, the chemist who created it. It is a butane chemical, in a new family of anti-Leukemia drugs.

Taken By Mouth
In early tests on small numbers of humans in Britain and the United States, GT-41 brought temporary remissions or improvements in 35 to 50 per cent of cases of myelogenous chronic Leukemia, Dr. Haddow said. One patient has stayed improved for a year.

The drug does not affect any other forms of Leukemia, including any of the acute or rapidly-progressing leukemias which usually affect children.

GT-41 can be taken by mouth and has no serious bad effects. Dr. Haddow termed results to date "as good as with any" other drugs used for leukemia.

The work of Dr. Haddow and associates earlier led to urethane and nitrogen mustards in tablet form for use against leukemia. All were based upon clues turned up in their main research—of learning just how a normal, healthy cell grows, and exactly what happens to turn the healthy cell into a cancer cell.

Research Promising
By learning that mechanism, science then can build more effective drugs that could prevent the cancer process.

"If we find the main principle, we will have a line of drug research that will be really fruitful," Dr. Haddow said. "In 10 to 20 years, all these drugs now being used may be of historical interest only. They will be obsolete. Better things will come from the fundamental knowledge."

Cancer-causing chemicals, he finds, appear to combine with genetic material in the cell, ultimately knocking out certain genes or controllers of heredity. These lost genes may be ones that control certain chemical processes in the cell, so the cell is able to grow in wild or uncontrolled fashion. Dr. Haddow declared this line of research now is very promising, and suggested closer concentra-

Michigan Fish Capture Prizes

LANSING —(P)— Fish caught in Michigan captured a total of 17 places in the 1951 "Big Fish" contest sponsored for North American fresh water fishermen by a national outdoor magazine (Field and Stream).

The record was challenged only by Ontario which placed 20 fish. Tennessee followed with 12, Florida 10, Quebec nine, California eight, Kentucky six, New York six and Wisconsin five.

Rainbow trout from Michigan captured all five places and five honorable mentions in the open eastern states division as well as second place in the fly-fishing division. Top Michigan rainbow was a 17-pound, 12-ounce fish in the open division which won first place for A. R. Mooney. It was caught in the big Manistee river.

The second place winning rainbow in the fly division was taken from the St. Mary's river rapids by Earl E. Leitz.

Among the other top-ranking fish from Michigan was a 12-pound brown trout caught on a home-tied fly in the White river by Avery F. Love of White Cloud.

High honors were won by a 17-pound, three-ounce walleye from the Pine River by Ray Fadely. This fish breaks the previous Michigan record set by a 15-pound, 13-ounce walleye caught by A. E. Gustafson in 1946 from Whitefish Lake.

Business Romance; Bachelor Making Millions On Dirt

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(P)—Some people complain millionaires are dull. To me they are more glamorous than movie stars or generals, for the business success story is still America's favorite Cinderella tale.

The most interesting millionaire I have met recently is Alex Lewyt, a 44-year-old bachelor who has built and sold more than one million vacuum cleaners in the last four years.

Like all millionaires he has a simple formula for getting rich: "Ask housewives what they want—then supply them with it."

At 14 Lewyt quit school to become one of the nation's youngest vice presidents.

"I was vice president of the broom in my father's small wire picture frame factory," he recalled. He took over the business at 18, and completed his education by studying business administration and engineering at night school.

Long-Hair Dream

"My plant was in a basement on lower Broadway, near the Daily Worker, the Communist newspaper," he said. "I used to eat in a cafeteria where these long-haired gathered. I would listen to them talk about how to make a perfect world, then go back to my little plant and try to figure some way to meet my weekly payroll."

While his long-haired neighbors went on dreaming of the millennium to be, Lewyt drudged away at the task of modernizing and expanding his business. He became a major subcontractor, manufacturing equipment for some of America's largest electrical firms.

During the last world war one of the items he made was a gadget to clean navy gun turrets.

and they are made through stores rather than by door-to-door salesmen.

Over 1600 Employees

Today Lewyt has a luxurious five-story home in mid-Manhattan, a ten-story factory in Brooklyn, and more than 1,600 employees. He has found his better world, likes to recall his basement days when he struggled to meet a payroll for six workers.

"I often wonder what would have happened if I had just kept on sitting in that cafeteria listening to the long-hairs," he mused. I asked him what advice he would give an ambitious young man starting his career now.

"None," he said, "except maybe to tell him that nothing happens by itself."

ENCLOSED CABIN

The log cabin in which Abraham Lincoln was born still can be seen. It has been enclosed in a beautiful mausoleum at Hodgenville, Ky.

But why? Why shouldn't they be sold as widely in appliance stores as refrigerators and washing machines?

"I figured the American housewife is a natural engineer, so I set out to find out just what kind of a vacuum cleaner she really wanted," Lewyt said.

He polled 318 housewives himself, had survey experts poll about 5,000 more. He took their suggestions and he and his engineers turned out 22 models before they felt they had what they wanted.

"I knew it would because I tested it myself for two months in my own home," said Lewyt. He then launched a tremendous national advertising campaign. When he went into mass production six months later, he found his market ready and waiting. His sales have increased every year.

AS WE LIVE

Trust Is A Part Of Love-- So Don't Marry Without It

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph. D.

(Q) "I am 17 and in love with a fellow who is 18. He is very jealous. No matter where I go or what I do, he doesn't trust me and has told me so. I have been going with him for three years and we have broken up three times for this reason. He has asked me to accept him back and go on with plans for our wedding. Do you think I should accept him back?"—C. G.

(A) You would be absolutely crazy to marry this boy unless he changes radically. In the first place, you are both too young to consider such a serious step.

Is this boy in a financial position to marry you now? Does he have enough saved up to pay the expenses of a wedding and the establishment of a home? And, even more important, has he enough in reserve to meet any emergency, such as sickness?

Even if he is in a financial position to marry you now, do you want to marry a person who does not trust you and makes no bones about it? How could you be happy with a person who reminded you constantly that he did not trust you?

Jealousy is a hard emotion to live with. You have had a taste of it during your courtship. If the strain of it has been too much for you and has caused you to break up three times, how could you stand the day-in, day-out strain?

It is quite all right to renew your friendship with this boy if you are fond of him, in spite of his jealousy and his distrust of you. But, keep it on the friendship basis with no thought whatsoever of marriage.

Don't even make the mistake of going steady with him. Accept his invitations for dates when you want to be with him but renew your friendships with other boys and make new friends. Get back into circulation and have a good time.

Later, when you find other young men you are fond of, don't make the mistake again of limiting yourself to one who is so jealous of you that he refuses to trust you. If he cannot trust you, he certainly does not love you enough to consider marrying him. Trust is a part of love and you cannot divorce the two.

History Part Of Button Hobby

AP Newsfeatures

EDMONTON—When a friend in Rhode Island first told Mrs. Earl Quincy of Edmonton about button collecting, she scoffed at the idea.

But that was 10 years and some 4,000 buttons ago. Today, Mrs. Quincy has one of the finest collections of buttons in North America. She is a charter member of the Rhode Island state button society.

"Buttons are antiques in miniature," she says. "Button collecting opens up a background in research of the theatre, arts, history, clothes and customs of the times."

Mrs. Quincy has buttons of early bone, calico buttons worn by frontier women, buttons of ivory from India which were used to convey secret messages, silver buttons with the heraldic crests of English nobility, bridle buttons from the Vanderbilt stables, cameo buttons of Jenny Lind, miniatures of French court beauties painted on silk and even the lowly overall button—each with its own story.

Discs Were Forerunners

The discs worn as ornaments on Roman and Greek togas were the forerunners of buttons, Mrs. Quincy explains. The nobility wore them as jewelry.

Francis I of France had 13,600 gold buttons on a single costume and Louis XIV once paid $14,000 for a diamond and jeweled button.

Every button opens up new channels of research. Mrs. Quincy is writing a book about the golden age of buttons, popular between 1820 and 1850.

Her hobby of collecting buttons goes back only to 1938 although many a grandmother kept her button string, spurred by the legend that "she who collects 999 buttons will never have to sew them."

First Is Favorite

With 4,000 buttons in her own collection to choose from, Mrs. Quincy's favorite is the first one she saved. It is a large gold button of bees and a bee-hive which she found in her grandmother's button box and wore to school in Rhode Island.

The giant of her collection is a redwood button which is 10 inches in diameter and three inches thick. Mrs. Quincy fills its five holes with tapers and uses it as a sandwich platter when she entertains.

But even a leading button collector can be fooled.

Mrs. Quincy's sister recently finished a new dress for her. Which buttons would look best on it? They delved through the 4,000 buttons—and couldn't find three to match.

Pork hocks need to be covered with water, brought to boiling, then simmered one-and-one-half to two hours or until they are tender. Add some celery leaves and bay leaves to the simmering water for good flavor.

Shirred Eggs With Tongue and Swiss Cheese

Ingredients: For each serving use: butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon heavy cream, 1/4 cup short thin strips cooked smoked tongue, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons finely grated Swiss cheese, salt and freshly-ground pepper.

Method: Grease individual heat-resistant glass 6-inch pie plate with butter. Put cream into pie plate; place tonguestrips over cream; break eggs over tongue; sprinkle eggs with grated Swiss cheese. Bake in slow (325F.) oven until eggs are as firm as desired—15 to 20 minutes. Serve at once. Pass salt and pepper with eggs.

Quick Pineapple Muffins

Ingredients: 1/4 cup butter or margarine, 1/3 cup sugar, 1 egg, 2 cups sifted self-rising cake flour, one 9-ounce can sweetened crushed pineapple.

Method: Cream butter and sugar in large mixing bowl; add egg and beat for several minutes. Add flour and pineapple (including syrup from can) and stir only enough to moisten dry ingredients. Fill 12 buttered muffin pans (one-third cup size) with batter; bake in hot (425F.) oven 20 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center of muffin comes out clean. Serve hot.

Silver Star Awarded Ayotte

The Silver Star for gallantry in action was posthumously awarded yesterday to PFC Earl C. Ayotte of Manistique and presented to his mother, Mrs. Emma Bashore.

Mrs. Bashore, Route Two, Manistique, received the medal from Capt. C. W. Smith, assistant sector commander of Upper Peninsula recruiting at Escanaba.

The citation was awarded for Ayotte's heroism in action in the Korean fighting in the vicinity of Tunjong-dong on May 21, 1951.

It reads: "Realizing that his comrades faced annihilation in their exposed position (on Hill 871), Private Ayotte, with utter disregard for personal safety, left his position and single-handedly assaulted an enemy machine-gun emplacement. Although mortally wounded by the intense enemy fire concentrated on him, Private Ayotte nevertheless managed to destroy the machine-gun crew before he fell.

"The courageous action of Private Ayotte enabled his comrades to renew their assault and to successfully secure their objective.

"The gallantry and selfless devotion to duty displayed by Private Ayotte reflect great credit on himself and the military service."

Doyle Prepares To Officiate At Army Maneuvers

Capt. E. J. Doyle, commander of the Manistique National Guard company, is one of about eight Michigan National Guardsmen selected as umpire for army maneuvers scheduled to be held near Fort Hood, Texas, starting March 25.

Capt. Doyle, who left for Fort Hood Feb. 15, is now taking instructions along with other umpires in preparation for the maneuvers. He will officiate with an armored engineer battalion from the First Armored Division.

Maneuvers will cover an area of approximately 35 by 70 miles and will continue from March 25 to about April 25. Capt. Doyle is believed to be the only Upper Peninsula Guardsman selected as an umpire.

In a letter to William Cowan, warrant officer of the local Guard company, Capt. Doyle said he was impressed by the cost consciousness evident at Fort Hood. The area is spotted with signs directing attention to cost of various military items and stressing the fact that men will be held individually responsible for lost items.

Capt. Doyle also advised Cowan that he assisted in installing an extensive communications system for the forthcoming maneuvers.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving memory of our beloved wife and mother, who passed away one year ago today, March 6, 1951.

Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thoughts to reach.
Sweet to remember her who once was here,
And who, though absent, is just as dear.

Sadly missed by

Three vacancies on the council are to be filled at the biennial city election on Monday, April 7. The last day for filing is 20 days before the election.

School Survey Cards Studied

As a public school activity which citizens would be willing to pay additional taxes to support, competitive athletics rated low in a questionnaire recently circulated among Manistique parents.

A survey of 280 questionnaires returned revealed that only 37.6 per cent of taxpayers would be willing to pay more money to support competitive sports in high school.

Lowest rating on the questionnaire was recorded by driver training which only 28 per cent of the citizens said they would be willing to support if it added to their tax bill. Also rating lower than athletics were school clubs, 33.6 per cent and foreign languages, 32 per cent.

Highest rating was given vocational training which 75.5 per cent of those answering said they would be willing to pay additional taxes to support. Other higher ratings follow: Home and family training, 63.4 per cent; public speaking, 50 per cent; history and geography, 46 per cent; music and art, 44 per cent.

Some of the other questions on the public opinion form were answered as follows:

In your opinion are today's youngsters who have finished grammar school as well educated as those you knew when you were a child? Yes, 279; no, 47; can't say, 45.

How about high school graduates? Do you believe they are as well educated as high school youngsters were when you were of that age? Yes, 248; no, 39; can't say, 45.

What kind of a job are the schools doing today? Good, 215; fair, 119; poor, 9.

Are today's teachers well trained and up to date? Yes, 275; no, 23; can't say, 64.

A total of 610 questionnaires were distributed to parents of grade and high school students.

Answers to other questions on public education asked in the questionnaire form will be announced later. A. F. Hall, superintendent, reported.

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

It's a good thing basketball tournament time is coming . . . We're finding it tough today to scratch up some kolo stuff . . . Which brings to mind a number of queries we've heard on a comment in yesterday's Corner . . . When we wrote that Mass won the honors as high scoring team in the Upper Peninsula we weren't referring to the 92 points scored against Berglund last Friday night . . . We were talking about the 72.1 average maintained by the Rockets during the season.

To elaborate on that, we'll list the scoring total, won-lost record and average points of the eight highest scoring teams in the U. P. this season . . . Mass leads with 1,297 (16-2) for a 72.1 average . . . St. Joe is second with 1,142 (14-2) and 71.4 average . . . Then comes Gwinn with 1,229 (18-0) and 68.3 . . . St. Ambrose scored 1,235 with (14-5) and a 65 average . . . Nahma registered 1,072 (17-0) and 63.1 . . . Negaunee has the sixth highest average with 1,008 (15-1), 63 . . . Next is little Pickford with 854 (11-3) and 61 . . . Stambaugh has 902 (11-4) for 60.1.

Our agent up on the Menominee Range warns us not to be surprised if the Norway Vikings get beat by Baraga of Marquette on their home floor Friday night . . . We haven't seen Coach Allan Ronberg's quint in action this season . . . But he has and says the Vikings are vulnerable . . . Could be, and if St. Joe beats Bark River as expected the Trojans would then meet Baraga for the second time this season in the finals . . . St. Joe won 88-73 in the previous game.

We'll be covering the tournament in Menominee this weekend . . . Haven't seen a game in the Maroon gymnasium as yet and only saw Menominee in action once . . . Eddie McCarthy of the Press staff will give us a hand with the Class C tourney in Norway . . . This is one of those times you wish you were in two places at once.

GAMES TONIGHT

9:00—Rapid River vs. Powers.

RAPID RIVER—(Special) — A near-capacity crowd of 900 spectators jammed the high school gym here last night to greet three district tournament winners who survived opening round play in classes D and E.

Rapid River and Rock moved on in D competition and Carney came through in class E.

The host Rockets chalked up the biggest tourney score with a 70-58 edge over Coach Bob Thibault's young Cooks quint. But it remained for Cooks center, Douglas Murray, to turn in the outstanding individual performance of the night.

High Point Man

Murray, lanky pivotman, fed 15 field goals and five free throws through the net for 35 points in a losing cause. Guard George Anderson came through with a valuable 22 points to lead Coach Norman Slough's Rockets who trailed only at the end of the first period, 17-16. Waldon Johnson and Bill Goodman each tossed in 19 for Rapid River.

In the other Class D encounter last night Coach Vic Mankevicz' Rock cagers had little trouble disposing of Engadine. Rock pulled out to a 16-4 margin in the first period and stretched the lead in each of the following quarters.

Donald Syriani and Edwin Johnson headed the Rock offense.

sive with 11 and 12 points apiece.

Posts Upset

Carney upset a favored Daggett team in the Class E opener, holding on desperately in the final period to win 26-20. Carney entered the fourth quarter with a 25-7 lead but was able to score only one point in the finale while Daggett roared back with 13.

A capacity crowd is expected to jam the gym here tonight for the three quarter-final games. Hermansville and Trenary open it with a 6 o'clock clash in Class E. Rock goes against tough and top-seeded Vulcan in the 7:30 Class D tilt and Rapid River tangles with bottom-seeded Powers in the Class D windup.

Hawks Lose 6 To 4 In Overtime To Pioneers

Game Tied 4-4 In Third Frame

HOUGHTON—(Special)—If ever there was a heartbreaker in Northern Michigan Hockey league play this season, it was Escanaba's 6-4 overtime loss to the champion Portage Lake Pioneers before 1300 screaming fans in the first semifinal playoff game in spacious Dee Stadium here last night.

The second in the best-of-three series will be played in Escanaba's small fairgrounds rink tomorrow night, beginning at 9. If Escanaba wins this one, the rivals will battle here again Sunday afternoon.

Tied at 4-4 at the end of regulation playing time, marking their best showing to date on Houghton's big ice surface, Escanaba lost the heartbreaker on young Jim Shetney's deflected goal from scrimmage at the 4:40 mark in the first 10-minute overtime period.

Almost Connected
That was the ball game, as it proved later. Bernie Ruelle's tally with five seconds left to play and the Hawks playing six forwards up in a do-or-die effort to tie it up again was just a gift.

Consistent scoring thrusts of the Hawks in the waning moments almost paid off as Ted Olson sent a hard driving shot that caught the corner post—a missed goal by a fraction of an inch—and Joe Ricci had the misfortune of missing a breakaway after feinting Goalie Ray Luoto out of position.

Only 30 seconds of play remained when Ricci sailed into the clear with only Luoto to beat. He drew Luoto out and Luoto was sprawled on the ice paralleling the front of the net when Ricci swung around to his left and made the shot that would have tied it up and sent the game into a second overtime.

Four Quick Goals
But as luck would have it, the deft shot to an open net flicked the Portage Lake goalie's left shoulder and deflected harmlessly across the face of the wide open mouth of the goal.

You could hear the few Escanaba fans moan clear up to Calumet when Ricci's would-be tying goal skidded across without nestling in that wide open net.

It was particularly heartbreaking since the Hawks, after trailing by 1-0 going into the second and 4-0 going into the third, had scored four lightning-like combination-play goals to tie up the game in the first six minutes of play in the third session.

Little Guy Pose started the rally on an assist by Burt Petaja at 1:50. Mark Olson took a pass from John Cortopassi to beat Luoto at 2:40. Ted Olson scored on brother's Mark's assist at 3:55 and Hawk fans went into a frenzy when Mark Olson tied it up at six minutes on the button on brother Ted's assist.

Brothers Ruelle Night
It was significant that all Hawk goals were the result of fine combination play once they got the feel of Houghton's big ice. By contrast, three of Portage Lake's six goals were semi-screened deflected shots and Bernie Ruelle's final tally was made when Ben Artwisch was off the ice. He shot almost the length of the ice into an open net while the Hawks were trying frantically to score in the last five seconds of play.

Portage Lake's second and fourth goals were well-earned tallies, however. Bernie Ruelle capi-

Second Game Is Here On Friday

The climactic game of the entire Northern Michigan Hockey league season in Escanaba—the second and all-important semifinal playoff game between Portage Lake and Escanaba—will be played at Fairgrounds Rink tomorrow night, beginning at 9 o'clock.

The clash rates climatic proportions because of the intense rivalry existing between the champion Pioneers and the upstart team of the league, the Hawks, who are playing only their second season in this last competition.

Last night's thrilling overtime loss to Portage Lake in Houghton set the stage for a bangup battle here tomorrow night. The Hawks must win to keep their championship hopes alive, and the Pioneers are sure to go all out to win to avoid the possibility of being upset on home ice next Sunday in the sawoff.

Got The Feel

That possibility looms large in view of Escanaba's scintillating showing in Houghton last night. Once the Hawks had the feel of the big ice, they outplayed Portage Lake last night, and the Pioneers are well aware of the fact that they'll have the feel of it much earlier if a third game is necessary in Houghton Sunday.

The winner of the best-of-three series will meet the winner of the Marquette-Calumet semifinal series in a best-three-of-five championship playoffs, Marquette and Portage Lake are one game up, the Sentinels having stopped Calumet, 3-2, in Calumet Tuesday. They will be host to Calumet tonight.

"We showed Portage Lake we had the strength to upset them on their own ice," Coach Mark Olson said here this morning. "Those four goals in six minutes in the third period was hockey at its best."

"We'll be at full strength and set to go the limit to beat Portage Lake here Friday night. You can tell all the fans we're planning on going back to Houghton Sunday for the sawoff game."

Reserved seat tickets are on sale at Gust Asp's. Six sections have been reserved for tomorrow night's game.

Al's Plays Host To Zephyr Quint

The Iron Mountain Zephyrs clash with Al's Tavern tonight at 8:30 in the finals of an independent basketball doubleheader at the Junior High. The preliminary at 7:15 brings together Kessler's Bar and the local Harnischfeger.

The visiting Mountaineer quintet is composed of former high school stars from Norway, Kingsford and Iron Mountain. They will be led by 6 foot 3 inch Tom Paterle, and 6 foot 2 inch Bill Johnson, starting forward. At the other forward spot will be Dick Wittick, Bob Despins and Buss Berdiner will open at the guard positions.

Also slated to see action will be Leo Paoli, Bold Rahoi, Louis Purce, Alan Wittock and Jack Larson.

Manager MacComber of Al's will choose his starters from the following: Jack Courneene, Don Martineau, Don Paulin, Tippy Legault, Bob McCarthy, Harold Van Effren, Bill Courneene, Ray Oseen and Wayne Boucher.

In the preliminary will feature the first meeting of the current season for two old rivals—Kessler's and Harnischfeger. Kessler's will have Don Lewis, Jim Kessler, Roy Johnson, George Anderson, Carl Fassbender, Jim Douglas, Paul Winnikainen and Andy Hirn.

Coach Eli Beaudin Jr., of the Harnies will counter with Tom and Bob Dufour, Warren Fisher, Joe Freiden, Ed Gauthier, Tom St. Germain and Mickey Kutchenberg.

St. Ambrose Loses To Bessemer, Puroil Held To 11 Points

MARQUETTE, Mich.—The first upset in Upper Peninsula district basketball tournament competition was recorded last night when Norbert Puroil was held to 11 points and his Ironwood St. Ambrose team was eliminated by Bessemer, 36-35.

Jim Beissel, 6-3 center, was credited with stopping the towering Puroil, who fouled out in the fourth period.

Slimpy as it was, Puroil's total gives him a new scoring mark for U. P. high school basketball. In 20 games he has netted 567 points to top the old record of 559 scored last year by Jim Mills, of Brimley, in 25 games.

Konno Expected To Set Records

EAST LANSING, Mich.—Ford Konno, Ohio State's lithe little Hawaiian, is expected to start the record-busting with the opening of the 42nd annual Western Conference swimming meet tonight at Michigan State College.

The 1,500 meter swim scheduled for tonight will occupy the entire evening.

The Big Ten record for the metric mile is 18:43.3, set by Ohio State's Jack Taylor at Minneapolis last year. But Ohio State, the defending champion, is so loaded with talent this year that Taylor isn't even expected to defend his record.

The probable Buckeye strategy will be to save Taylor for the backstroke events, his particular specialty. Konno is scheduled to swim the 1,500 meter grid for Ohio State with Garrick Agnew, an import from Australia, his probable partner.

Two Emeralds Honored In GL Cage Conference

The Manistique Emeralds landed two cagers on the Great Lakes All-Senior All-Conference 1952 basketball team announced today by H. J. Bothwell, Marquette, conference secretary.

Don St. John, forward, and Dick Lake, center, of Manistique joined Lowell Johnson and Ray Trehwella, Negaunee; Tom Taylor, Newberry, and Terry Thompson, Ishpeming, on the annual all-senior six-man first team annually selected in the Great Lakes conference.

Receiving honorable mention were Don Monette and George Sturgeon of Munising, Ben Smallridge of Sault Ste. Marie, Irvin Dubinsky of Ishpeming and Jim Schneider of Marquette.

Top Scorer
St. John, 18-year-old six-footer, led the Emeralds of Coach Bob Hussey in the scoring department this season. He ran up 125 points in 11 games for an average of 11-plus per start. St. John, who won his first basketball letter last season, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred St. John of Manistique.

Lake followed St. John closely in scoring this season with 124 points in 13 games. He stands 6 feet 2½ inches and is 18 years old. Lake won a letter in track last year but will get his first "M" in basketball this season. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Lake of Manistique.

East Figures Golden Gloves Team Is Best

NEW YORK—(AP)—From fly-weight Jackie Spurgeon to heavyweight Norvel Lee, the East has assembled a team of Golden Gloves champions it figures will rip the west to ribbons in the annual inter-city bouts here March 24.

Two members of the East's new squad are veterans of the competition with Chicago's Westerners. Heavyweight champion Lee, two-time winner of the National AAU, has won his last two inter-city bouts—as a champion in 1950 and an alternate last year.

Floyd Patterson, the 175-pound titlist, was Eastern middleweight king a year ago.

LaMotta In 'Lucky' Draw With Hairston

DETROIT — (AP) — Jake LaMotta, the former middleweight champion, won't have to hang up his boxing gloves.

The 30-year-old fighter, showing the strain of 12 years campaigning in the professional ring, won a 10-round draw with up-and-coming Eugene Hairston last night. Some thought the Bronx Bull was pretty lucky at that.

On the eve of the bout, LaMotta let it be known he would retire for good if the 23-year-old Hairston beat him decisively.

Now LaMotta says he is going to keep on fighting. He wants a shot at Joe Maxim's light-heavyweight title.

The hard-punching Hairston lost no prestige in the bout which he hoped would earn him a chance at the middleweight title.

A loud holler went up from Silent Hairston's corner when the decision was announced. Manager Mike Miele declared LaMotta had paced himself, fighting in the last few minutes of each round to impress the judges.

LaMotta's tactic of putting on a dazzling flurry at the end of each round paid off. Both judges

Red Wings Get Hockey Crown

(By The Associated Press)
The Detroit Red Wings today held their fourth straight National Hockey League championship—and they didn't have to step on the ice to clinch it.

When the Toronto Maple Leafs defeated the second place Montreal Canadiens, 6-2, last night, the Wings found themselves out of reach of all comers. The Wings have nine games left and 87 points, 17 more than the Canadiens, who have played 62 games. Toronto also has played 62 games and has 68 points.

Thus, even if Montreal wins all its remaining games and the Wings lose all theirs, Detroit still would have a one-point margin.

Now the question is: Who is going to get the runner-up spot? The Leafs, by virtue of last night's triumph, are only two points behind the Canadiens.

Montreal never was in the game, the only one on the schedule. Syd Smith and Tod Sloan each slapped home a pair of tallies for the winners. They were helped by Max Bentley and Howie Meeker, who scored one each.

Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion and rookie Dick Gamble took care of the losers' point production.

Priddy Still Holdout As Tigers Approach Exhibition Schedule

LAKELAND, Fla.—(AP)—Rookie Al Federoff will be at second base when the Tigers open their exhibition tour Saturday as Jerry Priddy continued as the lone Detroit holdout.

The 31-year-old Priddy showed up in civilian clothes yesterday and conferred with Manager Red Rolfe. Afterwards, Rolfe said:

"Even if Priddy signed today, he wouldn't be ready. So we'll give Federoff a shot. We want to get another look at him, anyway."

Training Camp Briefs

NO. 1 MAN
PHOENIX, Ariz.—(AP)—Whitey Lockman, the new No. 1 hitter on the New York Giants, is perfectly happy being assigned to the top of the batting order.

"I think my hitting No. 1 is going to improve my average," commented the first-baseman.

Lockman hit 282 last year and drove in 73 runs.

NEW PHENOM
VERO BEACH, Fla.—(AP)—Newest of the phenoms in the Brooklyn Dodger camp is Johnny Podres, a teen-age pitcher.

Johnny, who has had only Class D experience has hurled six scoreless innings in intra-squad games, and has not given up a walk.

TROUBLE FOR JUNKMAN
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)—"Junkman" Bob Hogue, the only unscouted pitcher in the majors last year, is going to have to fight for a spot on the 1952 New York Yankees pitching staff.

Hogue, a reliever who throws a variety of stuff with no outstanding pitch—hence the name "Junkman"—made nine appearances for the Bombers in '51 and didn't give up a run. But there's so much mound talent around, he may have his troubles sticking.

GOING TO BUNT
BRADENTON, Fla.—(AP)—National League infielders better be on their toes this season against fleet Sam Jethroe of the Boston Braves—he's going to bunt in every game.

Swift Sam bunted safely and also belted a triple in a practice contest yesterday and Manager Tommy Holmes said Jethroe's bunting might be the answer to the Tribe's many one-run losses a year ago.

WANTS RELIEF JOB
MESA, Ariz.—(AP)—Tom Simpson, rookie pitcher trying to make the grade with the Chicago Cubs, admits he may be an exception but:

He actually would consider himself extremely fortunate if the Cubs make him a reliever.

Simpson, a righthander, was drafted by the Cubs from Buffalo last fall. At the club's training camp here he declared:

"I suppose most pitchers will think I'm getting a little soft in

Agriculture Moves Into Critical Year

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON—(AP)—The nation's agriculture is moving into a critical planning stage for this year's production.

Prospects are clouded by a general downturn in prices, a tight labor supply and a scarcity of some types of machinery.

The agriculture department's vast staff of crop reporters is now busy contacting farmers to find out what their production plans are. Results of the survey will be reported March 19.

Bigger Harvest Needed
Secretary Brannan has outlined a record volume of production goals. If attained, the harvest would be 6 per cent larger than last year. Brannan said a big volume is needed to supply requirements under the defense program and to rebuild shrinking reserves.

Perhaps the most disturbing element is a decline in prices. Taken as a whole, they have dropped 5 per cent since the first of the year. They dipped nearly 4 per cent in February alone, and there are indications they will drop further this month.

Generally speaking, farmers are prone to cut back a little on production when prices are going down.

Of two dozen major farm products, only eight are bringing producers parity prices or better. They are beef cattle, veal calves, lambs, butterfat, milk, cotton, potatoes and sweet potatoes.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices. It is declared by law to be equally fair to farmers and those who buy their products.

Selling for less than a year ago are such commodities as wheat, rice, oats, cotton, cottonseed, soy beans, peanuts, flaxseed, dry beans and peas, citrus fruits, hogs, beef cattle, veal calves, lambs, sheep, chickens, eggs and wool. Yet farm production costs have advanced about 6 per cent.

The price situation already is adversely affecting production of some items — particularly hogs and eggs. Department surveys indicate hog production will decline 9 to 10 per cent this year and that farmers will raise 10 per cent fewer chickens for laying flock placements.

The climbing prices of feed grains have made it difficult for many farmers to come out even at current pork and egg prices.

Both hogs and eggs are selling for around 80 per cent of parity, or 10 per cent below levels at which they were supported by the government during the war. They are not now being supported because Brannan said, he has no effective method of support.

A big corn crop this year would do much to restore hog and egg production to a more profitable position, because it would bring lower feed costs.

salie Lytle, 44, nee Rosalie Hudson, who passed away Friday morning were held Monday morning at a requiem high mass at 9 at St. Therese's Church at Germfask, Father Casimir Mark officiating. The body was placed in Lakeview vault at Manistique and will be interred next spring in Fairview cemetery, under the direction of the Kefauver and Jackson funeral home.

coln Park; Mrs. Peter Olson, Mrs. Cecile Gillette, Blaney Park.
